

Brief Profile

Manju Menon

Manju Menon is a Senior Fellow at the Centre for Policy Research, New Delhi and Program Director of Namati's Environment Justice Program. She has researched environmental decision making processes in the regulatory and public arenas and her areas of work are the environmental law making and implementation processes related to the siting and regulation of infrastructure projects. These research projects and advocacy for improved decision making have been collaborative efforts undertaken in partnership with local community organisations, regional and thematic networks. She is a member of Kalpavriksh, an environment research group. She is currently completing her PhD from the Centre for Studies in Science Policy, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi. She was awarded the Nehru-Fulbright fellowship in 2011 and was based at the Anthropology Department, Yale University. She completed her Masters Program from the Tata Institute of Social Sciences. She has written on environment related subjects for the popular media and has several publications to her credit.