

MR. J.S. KAMYOTRA

Mr J.S.Kamyotra is an alumni of Delhi College Of Engineering and has been the Member Secretary of Central Pollution Control Board, the country's premier environment decision making body, for 5 years

Mr. Kamyotra has over 30 years experience working in policy formulation, development of environmental standards, establishment of real time monitoring networks in the areas of air quality, water and noise pollution. He has also been responsible for the development of India's first indigenously developed mobile air quality monitoring van. He is presently the Director at CPCB .

Mr. Kamyotra is a member of various National Policy Planning Committees and has a number of publications to his credit. He is also a member of various environmental committees constituted by the Honorable Supreme Court and the National Green Tribunal. He has been the country's representative in various international conferences and committees focusing on sustainable development in developing countries particularly ASEAN and the SAARC region. He has travelled widely both in India and abroad, coordinating various European and Canadian bilateral programmes and projects to assess the mitigative technologies available that can be successfully imbibed in developing countries such as India.